ON THANKSGIVING DAY, New York is rather lonely. The streets are bare, you can see five or six blocks ahead of you. All that can go have taken their automobiles into the country. It is a warm day.

There are ghosts along Fifth avenue of those that once drove up and down slowly, pulled by horses; fine ladies, with purple parasols in their open Victrolas; noisily tilted slightly upward; old-fashioned gentlemen with whiskers on the sides of their faces, white waistcoats in the daytime, proud of small feet.

Perhaps the short, old man, playing a small hand-organ, and looking up toward windows where servants live, see some of those ghosts. He is an old New Yorker, still speaks German better than English, remembers people and things as he grinds out the Marsellaise with extra emphasis on allons les enfants, formez vos bataillons.

That tune, the old man explains, is a song that Frenchmen like, and Socialists, too; but it is old, and nobody knows what it is any more. That would surprise Rouget De Lisle, whose head was left on his shoulders by the Revolutionary tribunal because, when asked if he had any reason to offer why he should not be guillotined, he remarked that he had written the Marsellaise. After the Marsellaise, the old man played "When You and I Were Young, Maggie." That was for ordinary Americans.

To return to our empty depression, which we have always with us, you read: "The world relief corporation will spend eight or nine billion dollars."

This is for President Roosevelt, himself, no understatement. If you loan bonds for that money, Mr. President, the government will pay eight billion before the "debt of eight or nine is canceled. Interest payments are principal in government loans. Secretary Morgenthau will tell you that.

"Best minds," still steadily in the pawn-broking business, and convinced the government should also be in it, will tell you: You must loan bonds, because if you don't you'll go to the devil.

They mean that YOU, Mr. President, will probably mean, in plain English, that they cannot trust YOU not to be infatuated. You are the only one that could allow the country to start reckless, dangerous infatuation. It could be done only with your consent.

Anybody with an ounce of intelligence knows that you would NEVER consent.

But trust you, do not believe you would have the strength to spend. "No—we shall not spend much, and no more," insist on your borrowing at interest, and controlling the country to pay double the amount it borrows, because they think you would not have the strength to stick to a good resolution.

They know that you could prevent wild inflation, if they could prevent you to attempt it, and they pay you a poor compensation when they insist on interest-bearing bonds, that you may hold down expenditures and money printing by fear of an interest debt doubling the sum of your expenditure.

You, the President, may decide what the country should spend. Why not print money, and what money, spend it. Then today's bonds are mere inflation paper, promises to pay in no way different from fiat money, except in the stupid, unnecessary payment of interest.

Newspapers show photographs of "Baby Face" Nelson, the bandit, dead in the morgue, naked in the waist, many bullet holes in his body, his head on a small wooden pillow, such as Oriental young ladies once used to preserve chastity and cures through the night.

In the photograph, a policeman points to one of seventeen bullet holes that, in his opinion, caused the bandit's death. One bullet of the machine gun spray had hit the bandit's "baby face."

GRANT DOG CHARTERS

Alarmed by a report that four New York gunners had been imported to take vengeance for the slaying of Jack Darrish, Revere ex-chief of a powerful prohibition-time rum ring, Revere and State police swung their search for Frank Lottito into Maine today.

Lottito was named by Darrish, it is understood, in a dying appeal for vengeance. For three years Lottito has been living in the Hotel Day, Revere, but he has made his quarters since repeal in Portland, Me., according to police, and has been using the name Frank Marconi.

Today the Boston Evening American learned that four men in a New York gang were charged from Revere out along the Northern seaway, following information that New York gunners had been kept for by friends of Darrish to avenge the slaying.

The report given police was that Lottito would be hunted down in a round of golf on the Earl's beautiful private course.

It was learned the Duke and Duchess plan to remain here until the middle of December. They will then visit London for a few days and spend Christmas with King George and Queen Mary at Sandringham.

London, Nov. 30.—Charged with attempting to extort $10,000 from Daniel Sorenson, wealthy Toronto business man, on threat of kidnapping his four children, a man and woman were held by Detroit police today.

The prisoners gave their names as George Carpenter, 34, and his wife, Bernice, 25.
The two were arrested three hours after a Detroit hotel when they allegedly accepted delivery of a "dummy" package supposed to contain the $10,000.
Sorenson, police said, up in a year ago, was superintendent of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada, Ltd.

wealth and high position the "Cinderella" princess, who is exiled from her native land and without dowry from her own father, who has forfeited his estates. (Picture by radio from London to New York through Wide World Photo Service.)

Phillip Hale, well known and well beloved critic of music and the drama, died today in his residence in the Hotel Vendome. He was in his 81st year.

Mr. Hale retired only a few months ago from active duty with the Boston Herald, with which newspaper he had been associated since 1905.

He was a familiar figure in the world centers of music and the theater, and knew personally all the famous personages of his time. His criticisms had a large following.

Mr. Hale was born at Norwich, Vt., March 3, 1853. He was graduated from Yale in 1875 and attended law practice in Albany, N. Y. three years later.

Royal Honeymooners Happy at Retreat

His Majesty, King George VI, and the Queen, Queen Mary, arrived at Sandringham today for their honeymoon retreat.

PHILIP HALE, "Baby Face's" Widow, Critic, Dead

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Find the woman and show her no quarter. This was the stern order federal agents were today as they hunted Mrs. Helen Gillis, 94-pound synthetic blonde widow of George "Baby Face" Nelson, leader of the rapidly diminishing remnants of the gang of the late John Dillinger.

Through her capture federal agents as well as state, county and city police hoped to bring to justice John Hamilton, believed to have been with Nelson's widow when Nelson was fatally wounded late Tuesday in a machine gun battle at Barrington in which Inspector Samuel P. Cowley and Special Agent Herman Hiller perished in the government's drive against the nation's public enemies.

There was growing belief among officials that it was she who was responsible for a mysterious letter received by Philip Hale, an undertaker, which led federal officers to the discovery of Nelson's body, badly punctured by bullets in a ditch near suburban Elm Center.

Chatham Street Blaze Ties Traffic

Traffic in the financial district was tied up at the height of the noon-day rush today when a small blaze on the second floor of a four-story brick box-storage building on Chatham street caused damage estimated at $10,000.

Firemen made short work of the blaze. The fire started when a spark from a "fireplace" ignited a mattress. Nine was in the building at the time.

CONGRESSMAN MOVES TO STRIP ROOSEVELT OF POWERS

AIMED TO 'PROTECT' HIM FROM MISTAKES OF AIDS

By International News Service
Washington, Nov. 30.—Warning that "bad administration" of many recovery agencies is a "threat to the President's hold on the country," Representative Hampton Fulmer (D.) of South Carolina, today proposed that Congress withdraw much of the vast discretionary power it has granted.

As ranking Democrat on the House agriculture committee, Fulmer declared action is necessary to protect President Roosevelt from the mistakes of his agents and to foster recovery.

"Members of Congress are fresh from the people and they see how many of these agencies are working," said Fulmer. "Let Congress be more specific in legislation."

OPPOSED TO SYSTEM
"I find the people in the South are still for the President—and the country is for him—but there are many people opposed to the manner in which the President's program and policies are being administered."

"It is impossible for the President to administer all agencies. He has to have subordinates. And they have not always administered them according to the policies of the President and Congress."

"If we don't throw these things out and make some changes, there may be a popular reaction two years from now."

In the most outspoken appraisal of the new emergency agencies made by a returning Democratic member of Congress, Fulmer laid "good" and "bad" agencies.

The "good" include the AAA, the farm credit administration, FVA, and the Tennessee Valley authority.

The "bad" embrace the NRA, federal relief administration and home owners' loan corporation.

HIT AT RELIEF
"The NRA is dominated largely by those who have been interested in bringing about monopoly in price-fixing, all of which, on the average, has operated against the small business man," said Fulmer.

The relief administration is the most ridiculous proposition we have had to contend with, Fulmer was waded. Fixation of minimum wages, which has been abandoned, worked to the disadvantage of agriculture and other lines. They have wiped out community responsibility in administration. I am told that in one South Carolina community it cost $4 in overhead for every $1 which went for relief.

Fair Next Week for Animal League

Funds for the care of Boston's blind and abandoned pets will be raised once more this year through the annual fair of the Animal League, according to an announcement made today by Robert P. Miller, president of the league.

This year's fair—the 22nd in the series—will take place in the Congress Plaza Hotel next Monday and Tuesday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. Marionette shows, films, exhibits and the usual gift tables will be features.

Turn to the classified page today and select the rental ad that appeals to you. Then go to R. H. White Company and consult with Barbara Holmes. She will save you both time and money.

RICH MAN'S CAR CRASHES; 6 HURT

Worcester, Nov. 30.—The chauffeur-driven limousine of a wealthy New York family crashed head-on into a sedan in West Auburn today, with resultant injuries to six persons, two of whom may die. The injured:

Louis Whitelaw, 55, New York diamond merchant.

Eva Whitelaw, 45, his wife.

Elaine Whitelaw, 33, and Jeanne Whitelaw, 18, their children.

Annie Hagner, 36, of New York, their chauffeur.

Henry Smith, 34, of Jones street, Worcester, only occupant of the sedan.

Whitlaw and his wife were critically injured. Smith suffered a brain concussion and the others were severely cut.

'New Deal' Promise by New Mexican Leader

By International News Service

Mexico City, Nov. 30.—Under a gorgeous tropical sun, Lazaro C. Cardenas, 39, took the oath of office as president of the Mexican Republic in the National Stadium here today, with a promise for a "new deal."

In a colorful ceremony, the new president swore to safeguard the rights of Mexicans and protect their sovereignty. He will officially assume his duties at one o'clock after midnight. Until then General Alvarado L. Rodriguez will continue to be president.

Some 60,000 persons jammed the huge stadium to overflowing. One hundred thousand more lined the streets. It was perhaps the most impressive social revolutionary demonstration since the days of the late Francisco Madero.

All countries of the world sent representatives to the stadium. Ambassador Joseph Daniels represented the United States, accompanied by George Creel of California.

The Mexican Congress convened at 11 a. m. and elected Senator Enrique Guzman Prión as its president. He administered the oath of office to Cardenas.

In his address Cardenas declared for a "new deal" for the proletariat; socializing education in schools and colleges; inauguration of a six-year plan of Mexican development; road building and honest government.

GASPARRI DIED A POOR MAN

By Associated Press
Vatican City, Nov. 30.—Pietro Gasparri, 70, renowned Papal diplomat, died a poor man, his will disclosed today.

At the price of the Church, who as wartime Papal secretary achieved world-wide fame, had to bequeath were a few relics, which he charged his secretary with distributing.

The house in which he lived belonged to the Vatican and reverted to it. Cardinal Gasparri died here Nov. 18 at the age of 82.

The numerous decorations and gifts presented him by the governments, kings and potentates of the world were left to be kept in the town hall of his native community of Ugento.

Widows of Slain Agents to Get U. S. Pensions

By Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 30.—A grateful government will pay $36.25 and $74.75 each month to the widows of the two Federal agents who died getting their men in the Barrington, Ill., gun battle with George (Baby Face) Nelson.

This was disclosed today by William Stanley, assistant attorney general. He said each widow will receive $25 and in addition $12.50 for each child.

Mr. Samuel P. Cowley has two children and Mrs. Herman E. Hilla one.

Stanley, who conducted the weekly press conference at the department in place of Attorney General Cummings, opened it by saying: "I don't want you to put any questions about the pursuit of persons who were with Nelson at the time of the shooting of two of our men. The matter is under active investigation."

He made this request in the presence of J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Bureau of Investigation.

HEAD OF MAYOR GROUP HERE

Mayor Daniel W. Hoan of Milwaukee, who is in Boston for the meeting of the national executive committee of the Socialist Party on Thursday, today visited Mayor Mansfield in City Hall.

Asked about conditions there, Mayor Hoan replied: "They are much improved."

"The return of love," the mayor continued, "provided employment for large numbers of persons in Milwaukee, however, not for as great a number as had been expected."

He blamed the use of machinery for this.

Hoan is president of the United States Conference of Mayors and said:

"When Congress convenes in December this conference will advocate a public works program which will be big enough to stimulate industry and to provide jobs for men engaged in turning out material."

Another Battle Opens In Vanderbilt Case

DECISION IS DELAYED ON GLORIA'S MOTHER'S APPEAL

New York, Nov. 30.—The appellate division reserved decision today on Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's application to force Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew to act on her habeas corpus petition for the custody of her heirless daughter, 10-year-old Gloria.

Mrs. Vanderbilt contends that Justice Carew's decision making Little Gloria the ward of the Supreme Court, and giving her to her mother two days a week and to her paternal aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, the remaining five days was a compromise.

Through her attorneys she maintains that Justice Carew must either sustain or deny her application for a habeas corpus writ. Such action would facilitate an appeal on her part.

No details of Justice Carew's memorandum opposing the stand taken by Nathan Burkan, counsel for Mrs. Vanderbilt, that unless the "present technical defect" is erased no appeal can be taken from the order.

Justice Carew submitted a memorandum opposing the stand taken by Nathan Burkan, counsel for Mrs. Vanderbilt, that unless the "present technical defect" is erased no appeal can be taken from the order.

No details of Justice Carew's memorandum were made known, but he has asserted that his order is final and therefore appealable. The contents of papers submitted by attorneys for Mrs. Whitney were not disclosed, either, but John Godfrey Saxe, one of her lawyers, said:

"Our memorandum in substance opposes Mr. Burkan's application for a writ of habeas corpus. The order is absolutely final and appealable. We will do all we can to aid Mr. Burkan to bring about an appeal if he wants one. No technical obstacles will be raised, and none exist to prevent an appeal."

Justice Carew has indicated that if he is ordered to sustain or deny Mrs. Vanderbilt's habeas corpus application, he will give complete custody of Gloria to Mrs. Whitney.

SYLVIA Waits for DOUG

LADY ASHLEY
ALL A-FLUTTER
ENQUIRES ABOUT
FAIRBANKS IN PHONE CALL

Copyright, 1935, by International News Service

London, Nov. 30.—Lady Sylvia Ashley, former mannequin and actress divorced this week by her titled husband, is not waiting any tears over her punctured marriage.

Nor is she weeping over the continued absence of Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., named as correspondent by Lord Ashley in the divorce proceedings.

According to her friends, the beautiful ex-mannequin is one of the happiest women alive. And her joy is prompted by the belief, justified or otherwise, that she may see Doug again within two weeks.

Yesterday morning the telephone rang by the side of her bed in Lady Ashley's fashionable Park Lane home. Sylvia reached out a languorous arm, lifted the receiver and said "Hello."

"Call from the United States," the operator droned. Then came the voice of Marie Oberon, British film star who recently went to America and whose engagement to Joseph M. Schenck, American picture producer, was broken a few weeks ago.

Inquires for Doug

"How is Doug?" Sylvia wanted to know.

Miss Oberon told her that he was very well.

Her next remark was even more revealing, according to a close friend of Lady Ashley.

"He says you are not to worry about the divorce."

Then, according to this information, Miss Oberon said something which apparently convinced Lady Ashley that Doug would be on the scene again within a fortnight, or perhaps less.

"I am very happy," Lady Ashley told the same close friend.

"All the horrible worries of the past are over now. In six months' time, when the divorce is made absolute, I will be free to marry whom I choose."

What Lady Ashley meant by this was not disclosed. Neither did the fact that she was a friend of Lady Ashley.

In the first place, according to police, Miss Callist Easton, above, came out second best in an argument with her "sweetheart," George F. Gregorio of West Second street, South Boston. But the "last word" was Miss Easton's, after all, she is alleged to have dropped a mayonnaise jar on Gregorio's head, tossing it from her fourth floor window on Warren avenue, South End. Among Boston's BEST DRESSED WOMEN (NO. 4)—Mrs. Matthew J. Whittall Selection of Mrs. Whittall, one of the most delightful persons I have ever interviewed, put the married women in the lead, 3-1-1 and just keep on waiting!

Mrs. Whittall's chic isn't studied. It's a natural grace.

When we met she was costumed in a stunning black wool coat, lavishly trimmed with Baby Persian lamb, wearing a smart Coward hat.

Colors at Home

It's difficult trying to get Mrs. Whittall to discuss clothes. They are definitely not her hobby.

"On the street I always wear black; sometimes black and white, I think it is the most becoming combination."

"For evening I prefer the same combination, but at home I love colors and wear them a great deal."

The simpler the clothes the better I like them, and although I travel abroad a great deal I buy practically everything I wear in my country."

She seldom shops for clothes. She buys wherever she happens to see something attractive, as she has an uncanny faculty of knowing before she tries her costume on, that it is just the thing for her.

Garden Hobby

Rarely does she try on any dress or coat that does not perfectly become her.

"My first hobby is gardens."

She displayed some pictures of Juniper Hill, Shrewsbury, which she gave to the Grand Lodge of Masons as a home for men, women and children some years ago.

The gardens, three which Mrs. Whittall developed, are almost unbelievable in their beauty."

Mrs. Whittall is another of her hobbies. She is the owner of five of the world's most precious stringed instruments, fashioned two centuries ago, and in the dining-living music room of her home, all-Stradivari.

As George F. Gregorio, 22-year-old South Boston banjo player can testify today, a mayonnaise jar, hurled from a fourth story window, can do a lot of damage to one's hand, even if a feminine hand hurls it.

Gregorio's sweetheart, Miss Callist Easton, 20, of Warren avenue, South End, is facing charges, as owner of the hand, George has a lacerated scalp and a possible fractured skull. He's at City Hospital.

In municipal court today, Mrs. Easton was arraigned on charges of assault and battery on the banjo player. She was held in $1000 for hearing next Wednesday.

Police said the jar hurling came as the girl—last word in a wrangle about a hamburger stand extension, Gregorio, they said, accused Miss Easton of playing double-cross, as hamburger man and snapper her. As he parted, it was charged, she leaped out a window and did the rest.

Sold, Looted

Busy Day at Home of Fuller's Wife

The birthplace of Mrs. Fuller, wife of former Governor Alvan T. Fuller, has been sold by Mrs. Fuller's mother, Mrs. G. Frank Davenport, to a neighbor whose name is withheld for the present. The property is located at 118 Washington street, Medford. It has been the Davenport home for more than half a century, but upon the death of Mr. Davenport, several months ago, Mrs. Davenport went to make her home with her daughter on Beacon street, Boston.

Coincident with the announcement of the sale of the property, police were notified the house had been entered and some table silver and a handbag chair had been stolen.

STATE, REVERE POLICE FAIL TO CATCH DARRISH KILLER

around Portland, but that the gunners car first would confer in Revere with Darrish's friends.

CAR ELUDS POLICE
To the afternoon the car, said to contain a machine gun, was sighted coming through East Boston, and word was sent ahead to Revere. It was not picked up in Revere for some time later, however, and it is believed the drive took back roads to meet the conference point.

So great was the spread of the sedan when police did pick it up that the police car was soon outdistanced and the New York car got away easily. Word was sent ahead to Portland but no sight of the men was obtained there.

It was believed today in Revere that the gunmen had transferred to another car with a local registration number and had hidden the New York machine.

REPRISAL FEARED

Police feared that reprisal by a Darrish partisan may have already taken place. They had learned that while the gangster, who died at Chelsea Memorial Hospital yesterday, wouldn't "speak" to them, he had named his assailant to pals who waited him.

When the squads of heavily-armed police who waited for Lotito saw at dawn today that they had missed their man, they raided a house occupied by Joseph Arselmo.

They said they found five rifles there, but Arselmo showed a license for the guns and told them he used the firearms for hunting.

WARRANT SOUGHT

Four other persons were taken in raids and questioned at the State House until nearly 2 a. m. by Captain John Stokes and State Detective Joseph Ferreri. Then they were allowed to go to their homes in Revere.

Purporting to support the police belief that Darrish and Lotito had been friendly but had had a falling out, Motorcycle Officer James Wilson, attached to South End station, reported today that he had halted both a year ago in Albany street, South End.

He first had halted Lotito, but all he found in the car, he said, was mackerel.

While he was talking with Lotito, according to the officer, Darrish rode up and asked why Lotito had been stopped. "Just to be sure," the policeman searched Darrish's car, he said, and found mackerel in this machine also.

The two men explained that they were taking the fish to a restaurant they owned jointly.

Chief Edward J. Tighe of the Revere police was going to Chelsea today to ask a murder warrant for Lotito. Police said they suspected another man of helping the alleged killer in his getaway but they refused to name him.

Police declared that Darrish was killed in cold blood as a result of a notorious gunman trying to "muscle in" on a chermi-de-de game, a fast gambling game played with cards and operated in Revere.

Darrish was shot, they said, trying to dissuade the gunman from his program.

While the officials maintained that the dying gangster, who had been named his man to friends and he had named them, it is believed that police gathered their information.

According to various sources, the Perfect Aim Saves Forgotten Baggage

With a longshoreman deftly tossing a handbag that had been left behind across 20 feet of open water and through an open port hole, the liner Lady Rodney today sailed from Commonwealth Pier for Jamaica, with Hamilton, Bermuda, one of her ports of call.

Aboard the ship were Mr. and Mrs. Morton P. Prince and their three children, of 57 Chestnut street, Beacon Hill. Mrs. Paul Rust, Jr. of Marblehead, and her two children; Mr. and Mrs. Joshua H. Baker, of Brookline, and their two children, and Lady Mary Swettenham, widow of the former Governor-General of Jamaica, on her way home from a Canadian visit.

New York Taxi Hits Boston Man

Andrew J. Whitbeck, 61, manager of the Stein, Hall company, 86 Federal street, was struck and slightly injured by a taxicab near Grand Central station in New York City. He had been visiting a sister during the holiday.

story Darrish told and the charge he gave to his pals on his death bed was substantially as follows:

"A friend of mine, a Roxbury kid, was running a game and cutting the profits with another couple of fellows I knew in Revere. They were all right. They were making a living out of it."

GAME CLOSED

"I didn't have any piece in the racket, but they were friends enough of mine so that when this guy—the name was whispered—tried to cut himself in, I decided to stop him."

The game was finishing up that night (Tuesday) and was closing for a while.

"I got a message that the guy was at it again. I knew him and we'd always been pretty good friends, so I figured I could talk him out of the mauling job."

I went to him and put it up square. He got sore and we argued, got disgusted and ended up:

"Don't be a lummox."

"He got sore at that and wanted to know if I meant it. I said I did. He gave me a dirty look and walked out."

Then he acted like a rat. When I stepped out of the place he came towards me with a gun. I didn't have a chance. He just said:

"So I'm a lummox, huh?"

MONEY SAVED

"I saw the gun flash and heard the coat. I felt the slug hit me in the throat. I went down, but I saw someone helping him get away."

"I didn't go out. I was just paralyzed, but I called a guy I knew and had him take my roll to my mother. He told her what happened. The cops came to me to the hospital then."

Darrish's mother, who is 80, and his young widow, were both in a state of collapse at the mother's home, 375 Revere street, Revere.

Funeral plans for the slain man call for burial Sunday at 10 a. m. "Relatives and friends" are invited.

It is said that Darrish will be given one of the most elaborate funerals seen here in years.

TWO LEAP FOR LIFE FIRE

Two Roxbury men leaped 25 feet for their lives today when fire raged through the second floor of 25 Equis street, the apartment of one of the men.

The blaze broke out in the apartment of Abraham Klayman, 34, whose wife was away during the Thanksgiving holiday. His guest was George F. Brady, 24, of 106 Lambert avenue, Roxbury.

Both men, according to police, had been smoking in bed before they fell asleep. Klayman was roused first by the smell of flames. He found that the blaze blocked exit by the door.

Patrolman J. Frank White of the Dudley street station, noticed smoke and flames the Klayman apartment, sounded an alarm and aroused other occupants of the house.

Klayman and Brady made their way to the window and hung from the sill before dropping the 25 feet to the ground.

Both were taken to City Hospital for treatment for cuts and bruises.

Britain Kills Plan for $50 Ocean Fare

London, Nov. 30.—Britain has killed a plan to take over the small ships of the American-owned Red Star Line and run a $50-fare transatlantic service, it was revealed in the House of Commons today.

Determined to prevent any unnecessary competition by British interests with the North Atlantic fleet of the Cunard-White Star Line, Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, confirmed that the treasury had successfully "discouraged" the idea.

Truck Hits Fire Box, Alarm Sounds

Firemen dashed to Commercial and Richmond streets today in the North End—only to find a New Hampshire truck against the box from which the alarm had been sounded.

The truck, which police said was driven by Charles Chenski of Dover, N. H., had been backing the sidewalk. The jolt caused the alarm to sound.

DUTCH SCHULTZ FACES LIFE

By Associated Press
Albany, N. Y., Nov. 30.—Dutch Schultz was confronted today by the prospect of a life's imprisonment.

He was held under $10,000 bond for a hearing December 12 on charges that he failed to pay income taxes on profits, allegedly gained from illegal beer traffic. Seymour M. Klein, assistant district attorney, told United States Commissioner Lester T. Hubbard yesterday that if Schultz were convicted, "he probably would be sent to jail for the rest of his natural life."

Schultz, whose real name is Arthur Flegenheimer, listened intently as his attorney, James M. Noonan, pleaded not guilty for him and attempted unsuccessfully to have the bail lowered. Schultz surrendered Wednesday.

The personal income of Schultz for the years 1929, 1930 and 1931 is set at more than $100,000 by federal authorities.

The following table shows his reported earnings and the taxes claimed by the government:

Taxes Allegedly Due

Year	Income	Due
1929	$136,328.69	$23,324.14
1930	201,635.35	$12,235.81
1931	84,276.36	12,338.90

PRIEST-SLAYER PLEA BRINGS COURT CLASH

New York, Nov. 30 (AP)—Joseph Lieb Steinmetz, 22, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in General Sessions court today on indictments charging that he murdered his 17-year-old bride and a Catholic priest.

ROW OVER COUNSEL

An argument was precipitated when Judge George L. Donnellan questioned the claim of Samuel S. Leibowitz that he had been retained as counsel for the accused youth.

Steinmetz was taken into custody and interrupted to say he was Steinmetz's attorney, and Judge Donnellan replied that he would not permit a plea of not guilty unless Leibowitz filed notice he had been retained as the youth's counsel.

Declaring that the lawyer had told him a few minutes before that he was not Steinmetz's lawyer, Judge Donnellan said:

"This is a case of great importance to the family and to the defendant. A few days ago, a relative of the defendant told me the defendant was not able to employ counsel. Mr. Leibowitz, I am not going to permit you to go ahead with this case unless you are the counsel in this case."

Leibowitz informed me 10 minutes ago that the defendant possessed no means and he asked me to assign him as counsel."

Judge Donnellan countered: "I suggested to me that if I appoint him as counsel he would allow the counsel fee of $1000 granted in such cases to be used for the engagement of attorneys."

Leibowitz loudly denied he had made such a suggestion. Judge Donnellan countered: "Liar!"

At the end of the argument Leibowitz entered a plea of not guilty for his client.

PLAN TO DREDGE GUT APPROVED

Two plans to relieve the shoaling of Shirley Gut, between Deer Island and Point Shirley, Winthrop, were recommended in a report filed today with the legislature by the state department of public works.

The first calls for dredging the gut 55 feet wide and eight feet deep at low tide, and the planting of jetties at entrance at an estimated cost of $77,535.

The second calls for widening the gut to 100 feet with a depth of 15 feet at low tide, involving reconstruction of a sewer siphon and relaying of water pipes. The cost of this undertaking would be $207,690.

Rites Tomorrow for Mrs. Dacey

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth B. Dacey, 68, of 85 Pleasant street, Dorchester, will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in St. Peter's Church.

A solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated by Monsignor Richard S. Haberlin, with Father Henry F. Gately, her nephew; Father William Long of St. Williams and Father Boyd of St. Stephens assisting.

Mrs. Dacey, a cousin of Senator David I. Walsh, is survived by one son, Frederick J.; two daughters, Mrs. Alice Maher and Mrs. Marion Dacey; and one sister, Mrs. M. L. Henley.

Officer Seized in Ship Slaying

Messina, Italy, Nov. 30 (AP)—Chief Engineer M. J. Demott of American S. S. Exchange was arrested today following the fatal shooting of Frederick Roberts, 21, Chicago, first officer of the ship.

Police allege that Demott shot Roberts three times during an argument aboard ship.

Prettiest Baby Ill

New Bedford, Nov. 30—After lying in the morgue here unidentified all of Thanksgiving Day, the aged victim of a hit-and-run driver was identified today by John Lomax of Hathaway street as that of his wife, Mary, 62. He said she had been missing since Tuesday.

Police have searched garages for an automobile in a damaged headlight. The car that ran down this woman on Ashley boulevard must have been damaged, they said.

The driver, a particularly cold-blooded person, dragged the broken form of the woman into the woods while she was still alive. Then he left her to die. That took three hours.

Medical Examiner Charles Sharkey said the woman had received compound fractures of both legs and her face was badly lacerated. She was taken to a hospital at the time she was run down.

Pierre, S. D. No. 30—America's most beautiful baby" was ill today at a hospital here with bronchitis.

The child is Marilyn Yvonne Miller, 16 months old, who won the title in a country-wide competition at the Chicago World's Fair.

RACE CHARTER IS GRANTED

Legislature, and secured backing for the heavy advertising in its advocacy, has been connected for more than 30 years with horse and dog racing.

It was declared by McQuilton today that Egan is the only Massachusetts citizen who has had experience in the operation of horse or dog racing tracks under the pari-mutuel or certificate form of betting.

OPERATED MANY TRACKS

He has operated dog tracks in New Orleans, in Miami, in Pittsburgh and in Wheeling, W. Va., but now has no track interests, he said today, having decided to concentrate his interest in Massachusetts.

Egan said the site of the proposed track, if a racing license is secured, has not been decided upon.

The president of the new organization, McQuilton, is president and secretary of the Waltham Bleachery and Dye Works in Waltham, an organization which he organized and financed two years ago, after it had been forced to close.

He is 27 years old, the father of two sons, and is secretary of the Waltham Country Club, director of the Waltham Chamber of Commerce and an official of the Waltham Kiwanis Club.

The corporation, McQuilton revealed today, is a 100,000 closed corporation, with the stock held privately, although there have been many influential persons seeking to buy some of the stock.

Two weeks ago, the Bay State Greyhound Association, Inc., a Boston corporation, was granted a charter.

Under the charter to the Metropolitan Kennel Club, Inc., the purposes of the club are given as "the owning, operating and selling of arenas, buildings, stadiums and structures for the purpose of conducting contests or exhibitions of speed or skill of animals, bicycles, automobiles, motorcycles or humans and for the purpose of conducting fairs or agricultural exhibits, or conducting dog racing or to own, hire, breed, raise, keep, register, maintain and buy and sell dogs of every kind, nature and description, for racing and other purposes."

There is also included a provision that the club may have "the right to engage in the pari-mutuel or certificate system of wagering."

Plan Traffic Circle in West Roxbury

Construction of a traffic circle at the intersection of West Road Parkway and Center street is recommended by the state public works department in a report filed in the State House today.

The cost of the project is set at $60,000, of which $25,000 would be for land damages.

SNELL PLEDGES NEW DEAL AID

By International News Service Washington, Nov. 30—Republicans in Congress will co-operate with administration in enacting recovery legislation, Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, leader of the House, predicted today.

The Republican program, Snell indicated, will be to avoid obstructive tactics.

"The attitude of members with whom I have talked is to meet each issue on its merits," said Snell. "Republicans are deeply interested in the restoration of normal conditions."

"Speaking for myself and those I have seen, I am sure that we will co-operate along that line. We never took a technical, antagonistic attitude toward the administration in the last session, and we don't intend to."

Roosevelt, Moffett Confer Over Housing Plans

By International News Service Warm Springs, Ga., Nov. 30—President Roosevelt settled down to work early today, and at 9 a. m. was deep in a conference with Federal Housing Administrator James A. Moffett.

The housing administrator arrived here yesterday for the Georgia Warm Springs Infirmary Paralysis Foundation ceremonies marking Thanksgiving. He is a trustee of the institution. At the same time, he came to the "Little White House" here to talk business with the President.

Neither Moffett nor Presidential Secretary C. Marvin H. McElreath was in the office which McElreath has set up here after his conference.

In addition to Moffett, there may be other important visitors during the day, Frank Walker, former director of the President's national emergency council, was expected to be here within 24 hours.

Also, Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins was a scheduled visitor along with Postmaster-General James A. Farley.

The meeting between the President and Hopkins was expected to be significant. Mr. Roosevelt hopes to whip his winter relief plan into shape before leaving here, next Wednesday afternoon to return to Washington on Thursday morning.

Today's working program formed striking contrast to yesterday's. The President, as president of the Warm Springs board of trustees, presided at the annual meeting of the trustees, and accepted on behalf of the foundation its three newest units, two bedroom dormitories and the Columbus Colonnade.

Last night the President was cast in the happy role of toastmaster for the Warm Springs annual Thanksgiving Day dinner, where the Nation's Chief was the jovial host who carved the turkey.

STRIKE POLICE PLOT TO BOMB INCREASED PRIEST'S HOME

By Associated Press Los Angeles, Nov. 30—An increase in the number of police officers on strike duty, which now stands at 600, was ordered today by Police Chief James E. Davis as acts of violence in the walkout of employees of the Los Angeles Railway Company continued.

The lives of the crew of a street car were imperiled last night by a gang of men, who bombed and set fire to the car at West Third and Bixel streets, not far from the business district. H. E. Rindell, the conductor, and J. Miller, the motorman, reported several shots were fired as the bombers fled.

Four street cars have been overturned at heavily traveled intersections.

P. A. Donoghue, Pacific Coast supervisor for the National Labor Board, arrived from Seattle to work toward a settlement of the strike which started last Saturday.

By Associated Press Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 30—Police today said two sticks of dynamite attached to a partly-burned fuse were found during the night under the rectory of Mar. J. J. Curran, pastor of St. Mary's Church.

Mr. Curran, one of the most widely known Catholic priests in the East, has been active in the peace negotiations of rival mine unions.

The dynamite was discovered today under a side porch. The fuse had burned to within two inches of the explosive.

RECORD CROWD WAILS PARADE FOR SANTASON

When Santason woke up today in Boston, he was one of the proudest young men anybody could meet. His first words were:

"Say, did you see our parade? My dad, Santa Claus, came to it. It was the best reception on record." Then the young son of the Santa family stretched out in his fur-lined sleeping suit, gave a little yawn with an "excuse me, please," I stayed up an hour, and jumped out of bed. He went on:

"It was a long trip down here and the warm weather makes me a little sleepy, but I can hardly wait to get over to Jordan Marsh's and meet some of the boys and girls who greeted us." All the while he was talking, Santason was dashing around the room looking for his things. He excused that, too, he said:

"You know, I usually fold my clothes or hang them to right where I can find them in the morning. But it was such a day, I just toppled into bed and didn't think."

HELP PARENTS

"It's good that dad doesn't know that. One of the things he requires for a boy or girl to be on his 'good' list, is that they help their mothers and fathers by putting their own things away when they're done."

"Naturally he makes me do the same thing. I must always do, too."

But Santason, who had washed his face and neck and ears, and brushed his teeth by this time, just couldn't get away from the parade.

HEGE CROWD

He sat down on a chair while he was getting on his boots and said:

"Dad figured, according to the official police estimates, that there must have been more than a quarter of a million boys and girls watching us. You can't possibly beat that."

"Of course, what kicked him just as much as the amount of youngsters was the fact that the grown folks who came when they made the crowds number from 50,000 to 70,000."

"You can't beat that, either." For a young fellow, not at the Christmas business, even as long as his father, Santason was showing that he was pretty well fixed. He didn't wait for the un-

Just a Few of Santason's 'Little Friends'

A record crowd of 700,000, two-thirds of them awe-struck boys and girls, watched the mammoth parade which greeted Santason's arrival for his annual Christmas visit to Boston. There were 20 bands in line, and huge balloons representing "funny picture" characters brought excited cheers from the enthusiastic youngsters. (Picture by Boston Evening American Staff Photographer).

interested. He explained that, too, he said:

"We—that is, dad and I and all the fellow workers who help us—tried to give Boston children the best there was. I guess we did."

HAD 20 BANDS

"In case you didn't count them, we had 20 bands in that parade. I thought one of the best was the Angel Guardian boys in their Mickey Mouse costumes."

"And Dad, the American Legion champion drum major. Did you see her?"

"I bet she gave the best performance of her career." "We had more balloons men and women and children than any year before. Bigger ones, too."

"You saw all the comic strip characters, didn't you? Felix the Cat, and the Katzenjammers, and Pop-Eye, and the Little King, and Shippy and his pals, and Barney Goodie, and the rest of them?"

CURLEY THERE

Although Santason asked questions, he didn't wait for the un-sworn. He was too enthusiastic. He was just warming up to his subject. He continued, seriously:

"We were very proud to see Governor-elect Curley in the big car with Mr. Edward R. Milton of Jordan Marsh Company and Mr. John Brenner of Chicago, leading the parade."

"Did you see if it weren't for Mr. Milton's company, we never could have given the boys and girls this big parade, and if it weren't for him like the governor-elect, there wouldn't be any need for it."

"You know, Sant thought? We were very sorry that little Carolyn Glynn wasn't at the Charles River Basin to greet us when we came in. She's the daughter of Mr. Frank Glynn of Jordan's you know."

"She was sick on Thanksgiving of all days. But we went out to the Tremuill Hospital to see her. Because my dad said that Carolyn was just too heartbroken for words, being sick on the Big Day."

MADE HER HAPPY Santason smiled reminiscently. Then he said:

"We made her happy just the same."

The young Santa boy explained all about the reviewing of the parade at the State House by State Treasurer Hurley, who represented Governor Glynn, and at City Hall by Mayor and Mrs. Mansfield. He thought that Chief Marshal John Cadigan of Jordan's and his aide, James Early and Charles Doyle did a "bang-up job," he said.

And then, just before he dashed down to his orange juice and cereal and all those things that he had for breakfast, young Santason said:

"I'll be seeing you!"

LOST CHILDREN

Santason didn't know about it yesterday, but he would have been quite worried, and needlessly too, about the boys and girls who got separated from their parents at the parade.

Needless, because everything turned out all right. Boston police officers kept the children happy until they were claimed at the stations.

Jean Fortier, 7, of Eastern avenue, Malden, and Eleanor Wall of Cummins road, Newton, were the first to get "lost." Jean and her twin brother, Frank, started the day by arriving at the Back Bay police headquarters.

FROM NEWTON Then Eleanor and her 9-year-old sister, Esther, appeared. It seemed that Jean and Eleanor got "lost" first and their respective brother and sister got lost with them.

The others began to come in. They included Grace Murphy, 8, of Francis street, West Newton; Leo P. Foley, 6, of Alton road, Mattapan; Mildred and Lorretta Bergrave, 7 and 4, of North street, Newton; Robert Kowalski, 7, of Glenville avenue, Allston; Mary Crosby, 10, of Center street, Newton; and Marion LaCroix, 9, of Center street, Newton Center.

What police couldn't figure out was why so many boys and girls from Newton had to get lost.

7000 SEEK 50 LIQUOR JOBS FEAR OF TIDAL WAVE PASSES

By Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 30.—Having tentatively set December 15 as the date for opening of Maine's first liquor stores, the State Liquor Commission today awaited employment of extra help for the commission by Governor Louis J. Brann and the executive council.

Nearly 7000 applications for the 30 extra jobs the commission had to offer—store managers, clerks, inspectors, a storehouse manager and a supervisor—were on file and many hundreds had personally contacted both the commission and the executive body.

For two days before the Thanksgiving Day holiday the executive body worked on the problem without success.

By Associated Press

HONOLULU, Nov. 30.—A severe submarine earthquake sent alarming radio reports to the states that a tidal wave would sweep the Hawaiian Islands but caused scarcely a stir in Honolulu.

The shock, centered about 2000 miles at sea, was recorded last night in the seismograph of the Hawaii national park observatory on the slopes of Kilauea volcano.

Observers said the disturbance was slight, a mid-night deadline (5:30 a. m. Eastern Standard time) reportedly set by the hydrographic office for the crest of water to sweep upon the islands passed without a sign of a disastrous wave.

Czechs To Double Military Service

Praha, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 30.—The government introduced in the Chamber of Deputies a bill raising the period of military service to 24 months.

If passed, it will go into effect immediately so that those soldiers whose terms end December 1, will serve 20 months longer.

The cost of the new program was estimated at $7,000,000 per year.

Roxbury Auto Crashes, 6 Hurt

Crashing into an electric light pole after running into the rear of a car on Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester, a car driven by Morris Reinberg, 34, of Rutherford street, Roxbury, was demolished and six persons injured. It was injured Reinberg suffered lacerations and fractured jaw. The two passengers of the car were less seriously injured. All were released after treatment at a doctor's office.

QUEZON TELLS AIM OF FREED PHILIPPINES

By Universal Service
San Francisco, Nov. 29.—The aim of the Philippine Islands, now looking forward to independence, is to maintain the present economic relations with the United States.

Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, arriving in San Francisco is said today on the President Coolidge gave this as a salient principle in the process of national reorganization.

The famous patriot and advocate of Philippine independence, does not expect to be present in Manila when the new constitution is adopted. At that event, creating a new nation, will take place, he believes, within the first ten days of December.

Quezon, however, will have another six months in his office before the general election which will provide executive and legislative according to the new constitution.

FRIENDSHIP TOLD

Quezon stressed upon the lasting friendship that has developed during American sovereignty in the islands.

During the 19 years which will intervene before the Philippines attain complete independence, he expects this friendship to develop an unwritten alliance. He explained: "We have been the seventh customer of the United States, and our economic relations are of mutual advantage."

"We are, of course, concerned over the limitations on our sugar and oil exportations. The last Congress reduced our sugar quota from 1,000,000 long tons to 800,000 long tons."

"We hope to see the people of this country realize that in buying our goods they are establishing one of their own best markets."

face," which, by the way, is anything BUT a baby face.

It is a face that psychologists will study, the face of a hard fighter. In other times, under other conditions, such a man might have been useful to his country, a credit to his friends and family. The thick, curly hair, small mustache and white teeth probably explained his nickname.

The teeth show in the photograph. There was no one to strap on the lower jaw after the bandit, rolled with bullets, stripped almost naked, had been thrown into the ditch and the stiffness of death set in.

Samuel P. Cowley and Herman E. Hollis, federal agents killed by "Baby Face" Nelson, disposed of him with seventeen bullets before they died. They will be honored with temporary praise, but the law does not give their families any part of the reward that would have been paid if someone, not a federal agent, had killed the bandit.

Stanley Bailein, who helps run the British government, warns the Commons that Germany threatens Europe, and tells of war preparations that make her dangerous. He does not discuss floating ships that are only targets for airplanes.

FORMER HUB BOY WITHOUT A COUNTRY

Officials of two nations are today trying to decide what to do with a 12-year-old former Boston boy, Egidio Frulla.

Eight years ago the boy's father took him to Canada to live with his uncle in Windsor. Two months ago he came to this country for a brief visit. On attempting to return to Canada, he was denied readmission on the grounds that he had never been properly admitted the first time.

Meanwhile a search is under way for the lost father, thought to be living somewhere in New York, and his mother. Authorities at Windsor, where an inmate of the State House is in the boy's custody, at the time of her admission a determined effort was made to have her deported as an alien and a public charge. The woman, whose name is Mrs. Virginia Frulla, was one child, but her whereabouts is not certain that it is Egidio.

The building will be known as South Hall. Its Italian renaissance style, executed in Italian limestone with red borders of brick and stone, harmonizes with a campus plan created in 1880.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the university, presided at the ceremonies at which John Bushon, British, jurist and member of parliament for the Scottish Universities, was the principal speaker.

Dr. Butler hailed the gift as a "laboratory-library" where students may scrutinize source authorities as never before at Columbia.

The building, he said, "is not only a monument to academic progress, but it is a proponent of academic accomplishment yet to come."

Mission Church
Novena Begins

To accommodate the large numbers who annually make the novena in preparation for the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, five services each day will be held by the Rev. Edmund J. Fellers, of the Mission Church, Tremont street, starting today.

The hours will be 7:30 and 9 o'clock in the morning and 3, 5:30 and 7:15 p. m. There will be short services after the 6 and 7 o'clock masses.

New $4,000,000 Library Opened at Columbia

By Associated Press
New York, Nov. 30.—Columbia University's new $4,000,000 library building, the gift of Edward A. Harkness, was formally opened today at exercises in the main reading room.

The building is a masterpiece of the massive structure close off the southern boundary of the Morningside Heights campus, facing north towards 116th street and the older library in the university center.

Typhoons Kill 300 in Philippines

Manila, Nov. 30 (AP).—Meager report left in doubt today the death and destruction caused by one of the most severe of the typhoons that have claimed 300 lives in the Philippines in three months.

Seven provinces in the central islands, south and southeast were cut off from communication with Manila. The typhoon was most violent in Leyte Island.

U. S. FACES RUM FLOW ON CUT OF AGENTS

The Associated Press
Washington, Nov. 29.—The United States is facing a new problem in the fight against rum, it is reported today, as the result of a new cut in the number of agents authorized to operate in foreign countries.

The new cut, it is reported, will result in a reduction of the number of agents from 100 to 75. This, it is claimed, will result in a new problem in the fight against rum, as the number of agents will be reduced to one-third of the number of agents who were authorized to operate in foreign countries.

TIRED OUT?..

get a Lift with a Camel!

● Newspaper man—hockey star—business woman—explorer—cartoonist—wherever smokers are placed in life, they notice a positive energy-refreshing effect from smoking Camels when they are tired or "out of sorts."

Above is Ray Baker, star newspaper man of the International News Service...snapped by the camera at his job. He says: "The man on the INS desk has a high-pressure job. A big story breaks and I am on the desk for ten hours...twelve hours...working at top speed! Whenever I feel 'all in' Camels bring back my pep." For over ten years I've preferred Camels. I can smoke them continually without jangled nerves."

Science confirms the experience of smokers regarding Camel's "energizing effect." Camel's matchless blend of costlier tobaccos never upsets the nerves. And your taste never tires of their finer flavor!

HOCKEY STAR. "Bill" Cook says: "I guard my nerves and yet smoke all I want because I smoke only Camels. Their taste sure hits the spot! I smoke a lot and I find that Camels never get on my nerves or tire my taste."

GIRL EXPLORER. Mrs. William LaVarre says: "Any time I'm tired I just stop and smoke a Camel. It wakes up my energy in no time. And here's an important point. Smoking Camels steadily, I find, does not affect one's nerves."

CARTOONIST. Chas. Day says: "Cartoons are fun, but hard to make. I often work 10-11-12 hours at a stretch and smoke Camels all the time. They help to increase my 'pep' when I feel tired or glum, and Camels never upset my nerves."

BUSINESS GIRL. Eve L. Miller says: "I started to smoke Camels because I appreciate mildness and delicacy of flavor. Camels give me a 'lift' when my energy is low, and they never upset my nerves."

NEED FOR CHRISTMAS FOOD IN CHEERLESS HOMES TOLD

Yesterday was Thanksgiving Day! That is, it was Thanksgiving Day for you and you do. For many it was just another day, when people who should have been working were not working, and, therefore, were getting no pay.

In the homes of others, it was a day of rejoicing and feasting and real thankfulness that there were the means for feasting, it was a day of hope that things will be better.

However, in countless homes none of them perhaps only a few blacked from your own homes there was no such feasting and rejoicing—and it was difficult to be thankful in misery and wait without even sufficient food.

CHEERLESS PROSPECT
Now you are looking forward to Christmas, but in the cheerless homes the prospect is cheerless and grim. There will be no noisier than on Thanksgiving Day—only those who have more of the world's goods give out. The Goodfellow has not failed in the past, and they cannot fail this year. Since last Christmas the Boston Evening American has been engaged in raising $10,000 for Christmas baskets through the aid of that social or sporting event, but there isn't enough. Then there never can be enough unless the Goodfellow comes for $200 deep and give what contributions are small.

How would you like to be a widow with five children and all facing a Christmas bleak, and with and devoid of all happiness?

MOTHER RED RIDDEN

The following excerpts are from a letter from a widow who lives in Middlesex street, South End. "I have been bed-ridden for 15 months with a breakdown caused by the death of my husband. One of my babies was killed. All this happened in four months. We can't find any kind of work and the rent is $25, so we are on the street. You can imagine how we get along. I am sick most of the time with broken nerves and heart trouble.

"Many thanks to the American and I hope that I won't be forgotten this year. It has been two years since we really saw anything like turkey or chicken. Thanksgiving will be thankful for dry, stale food and unwelcome suffer, and we thank God for that."

PLEADS FOR MOTHER

This letter has been filed in Case No. 9 and any Goodfellow can have it to take care of personally if he or she wishes.

Then there is Case No. 8—of which an excerpt is printed. "I am someone in a plea for my mother, as she is not well at all and is too sick to write. Our family is in Heaven and we are nine children at home and my mother is supposed to go to the City Hospital for an operation.

"My sister has to wash our clothes at night, so we can have clean ones the next day."

FEW OF MANY

upside down forget us as Christmas is my mother's birthday and we would like to see her have a happy birthday and dinner. I know we will not have anything at all, as we cannot live on the little my mother gets from the city and pay rent."

There are only a few of the letters being received by the Christmas Basket Fund editor of the Boston Evening American as the time points toward Christmas. Contributions are needed—and it is up to you Goodfellows.

Pathetic Christmas Appeals Received

Real need is apparent in pathetic letters to the Christmas Basket Fund Editor. Here are a few received recently. It is easy to help the sufferers.

Case 1

I am sending in my plea to you at this early date for a Christmas basket. Last year my six little children, as well as my husband and myself, were left without anything except bread and jelly and we didn't even have enough of that.

My six children range from one to 11. Anything you will be able to send them, either in the line of food or clothing, will be more than appreciated.

My husband has not worked for the past few years and the small amount allowed us by the welfare is not enough for us to have even bare necessities of life. I am not asking for anything for my husband or myself, but ask you to please try and send us something that will help to cheer up our poor little children and try to make them forget the terrible day last Christmas was for them.

May God help you in your worthy cause and if at any time I am ever in a position to spare even a dollar I will certainly think of the Boston Evening American Christmas Basket Fund. This mother lives in Rye, N. Y. Anyone wishing to help her may do so by calling the Christmas Basket Fund Editor, Liberty 4000 and ask for Case No. 1.

Case 3

My husband is out of work and I have four children and I find it very hard to get along as I have been under the doctor's care for a year and a half, and I am not able to get anything for these children.

I hope to God that you will send me a Christmas basket, as I need it badly, because without your help there will not be any Christmas for us.

If you can provide some clothing, I will appreciate it very much as I have one boy 11 years old and two boys 8 and 9 years, and also a little girl, age 4. I would like something for her to wear.

Anything you can do will be very much appreciated. Here's hoping you will not forget me this Christmas and that you will not forget to give me a basket.

This mother lives in Cambridge. Anyone wishing to help her may do so by calling the Christmas Basket Editor, Liberty 4000, and ask for Case No. 3.

Case 5

For the first time in my life I'm asking help for a Christmas dinner for my children. My children have been sick with influenza and I developed a mastoid. We are five in the family and expect a baby in the future. I do hope that your kind and generous paper, the Boston American, will give us a basket as the children will at least have a Christmas dinner.

Please don't forget the children. Please don't forget them in this great time of their need. We depend upon you for our Christmas dinner. Hope to hear from you in the near future.

This mother lives in Dorchester. Anyone wishing to help her may do so by calling the Christmas Basket Editor, Liberty 4000, and ask for Case No. 5.

Case 6

I am writing you this letter to see if you will help me this Christmas. I am very much in need. I have just come of the hospital and I have six children and have one boy in the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary now, and we are very much in need.

My husband is not with me and I have only one son working on the B. & M. He isn't enough to live on. I owe a lot of bills and can't pay them.

I do hope you will send us a basket for the sake of the children. We look forward to Christmas. This mother lives in Somerville. Anyone wishing to help her may do so by calling the Christmas Basket Editor, Liberty 4000, and asking for Case No. 6.

Case 7

A navy man who has served quite a bit in the navy and was a hero in saving a life while on ship.

Here in Boston some time ago an auto went over the bridge into the water and a couple of people were locked in the car under the water and this navy man was one to go down under the water to get these bodies.

Today this man is out of the navy with all kinds of medals and honors and has a wife and five small children. This man has a hard time to feed and clothe his children, they hardly get enough to eat and pay rent. Now that the cold weather is coming there will be a lot of cold nights for them as they have no coal.

This man doesn't want to tell his troubles but I as one know what he has done and the man knows in his heart and soul that he is desperate. He is out of work and now that he is out of the navy he doesn't know which way to turn.

I hope and trust you will try and see what you can do before the worst comes as he is pretty well disgusted. You will find when you investigate that what I say is true and if he wants to tell you more about himself in regard to his service in the navy I can well assure you he did more good deeds.

This case is in Roxbury. Anyone wishing to help him may do so by calling the Christmas Basket Editor, Liberty 4000, and ask for Case No. 7.

Benefit Performances for Y. W. C. A.
WHEN YOU GO TO SEE Anna Enters tonight or tomorrow at the Repertory Theater, where she is giving benefit performances for the Y. W. C. A., you will marvel at the vivid, colorful personality this girl, who can create and interpret such clever compositions in dance form, most possess... Many pronounced backers of the Y. W. C. A. were there to see her last evening after having in red morning coat with her at the Junior League on Wednesday... Mrs. C. Douglas Mercer, one of the most faithful sponsors of these benefits, was in the audience with her daughter, Mrs. Percy Knapp of New York... Under a mink wrap, Mrs. Mercer wore a black velvet gown and Mrs. Knapp wore a white-collared wrap over midnight blue crepe... A soft mink caplet adorned the dark velvet dress of Mrs. Thomas E. Claflin, who is entertaining on Saturday at luncheon in honor of her debutante daughter, Miss Eleanor, before the Saturday matinee of Miss Enters... In a bright red dress, Miss Rebekah Hobbs relaxed under the spell cast upon the audience by the dancing and mime in her unusual episodes... Others enjoying the program and the relaxation after a joyous busy holiday were Miss Isabelle Porter, with her mother, Mrs. Charles Porter, Mrs. Amos Breed, Mrs. Daniel de Menocal, Mrs. Harold C. Stuart, David McDuff, the poet, who attended with his mother, Mrs. Marcus Morton, Jr., Mrs. Homer Albers and countless other friends and benefactors of the Y. W. C. A.

TIMELY formal clothes

or dinner suit is styled and priced for young men. Jet black worsted, grosgrain satin lapels. As comfortable as a sack suit. The pockets have welt edges, and the flaps may be worn tucked in as shown in this sketch, or the conventional way. Models for men and young men. Here exclusively.

are becoming more popular wherever well-dressed men gather. Different, but not too different, and perhaps a bit more comfortable for dancing because they can be worn without a vest. The pockets are made like those of the regulation tuxedo, described above. Regulars, shorts and long carried in stock.

THE FULL DRESS
suit is this year's formal clothes fashion news. It's back again in a big way, especially among college and prep school men. And unquestionably the last word in formal elegance. It adds atmosphere, glamor and nonchalance to any man's appearance. Models for men and young men, all

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

FINAL SALES PRINTED ON TAPE AT 3:07 NET CHANGES

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—A hint of strength in the steel and motor shares buoyed a falling market in the final hour.

The strength in these two divisions was quickly communicated to other sections of the market, notably the motor accessories and electrical equipment sections, including Borg, Warner, Hamilton, Hertz, General Electric and Westinghouse.

U. S. STEEL STRONG

United States Steel gave another demonstration of strength in the closing minutes of trading by gaining nearly a point to a new high for the movement. This indicated further strength in Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown.

General Motors and Chrysler were turned over in volume with blocks of 100 shares each, indicating the price frequently and promptly to the best levels in the market.

CAR LOADING DROP

A sizable drop in U. S. Motors was reflected in the closing hours, which showed a decided reaction. This was due to the fact that the car loading was reported to be down.

Despite the drop of nearly 2 cents a bushel in wheat and corn, the farm implement and mail order shares were steady and in the few instances slightly higher.

PALESTINE DISASTER

The dividend picture was further brightened by announcement that the Commercial Credit Co. had increased the common dividend from 31 to 32 per cent.

Sunshine Mining Declares 'Extra'

Sunshine Mining Co. declared an extra dividend of 4 cents and regular quarterly of 16 cents, payable both ways Dec. 31 to stock of record Dec. 15.

International Silver Pays

International Silver Co. declared a dividend of $1 on the preferred, payable January 1 to stock of record December 10. Similar shares were paid in previous quarters.

Dow-Jones Averages

The Dow Jones averages closed at 115,500, up 1,304.91 from 114,195.09. The volume of trading was 1,304,910 shares.

Stock Market Timetable

10:15—Prices were narrowly mixed in the initial hour. Utilities were lower and tobacco and food shares were quiet with sales running 20,000 shares.

11:00—Trading was quiet in the second hour. Ralls were sluggish. Tobaccoes receded fractionally from the highs. Transactions amounted to 30,000 shares.

12:00—There was little activity in the third hour dealings. Aviation stocks worked higher led by Wright Aircraft Douglas. Ralls moved fractionally lower. Sales approximated 40,000 shares.

1:00—Shares held at about the level in the fourth hour. The market was quiet with sales running 20,000 shares.

COOK-COOS

by Ted Cook

WE CAN'T SAY WE WEREN'T WARNED!
Pick out twenty young men and not more than five of them are making an effort to save money. The indications are that the poor-house of the future will have to be six stories high with folding beds in every room.

"My idea of an abundant man" reflects Genevieve, the kitchen cyclic. "A guy who can keep a roof over his wife's head and keep her from raising it."

Q. and A. DEPARTMENT
Dear, Helpful Aunt Bella:
When a man tells a nice girl like me that she can have anything she wants how far should he go? I mean should I get a fur coat or a wristwatch or just a bunch of flowers. I don't care much for flowers.

Ans.—Auntie B. cannot help but think you'll go far.

News item reports Mussolini's suspenders broke while he was whirling a pick to start a slim clearance drive, and he had to grab for his trousers.
It should be a lesson to him. If there's anybody that oughta wear both belt and suspenders, it's a dictator.

Dear, Sympathetic Aunt Bella:
It seems to me, and I've thought quite a bit about it, off and on, while waiting for street cars, that after marriage men are apt to grow careless about their personal appearance, and it doesn't seem at all right to me.

Ans.—Madame, after marriage a man's personal appearance is apt to grow careless with him. A. ("Fair Enough") Bella.

ELSE HAS PRACTICALLY GOT HIMSELF TOLD

ELSE: Your spoken words, your promises, evidently meant nothing—less than nothing. It may give you small comfort to know that I have learned to forget. Dorothea B. Land.

FOR-EVER

Year after year still Christmas is blessing. How long as this be continue. Oh! Christmas as still blessing. For-ever.

T. S. Nakano.

The committee feels that it has thus far only scratched the surface.

There, there, baby—Don't look so downcast; You'll never have a future. Until you've had a past.

Authors photographed smoking a pipe—A feeling akin to a gripe.

Indignant as college authorities when a student seems to be learning something he's not being taught.

Men who wear hair oil that's slugged with perfume.

Cast me deep down in a chasm of gloom.

Authors in burning robes watching the fire. Photographed, can arouse a man's ire.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS

What hurts me, baby, is the way you try to steel yourself against me.
